YMCA Reading Tests Slated for This Week

The Torrance YMCA this week will conduct free reading tests for boys and girls today at 2080 Washington Ave. The Y will provide diagnostic testing and counseling in conjunction with the start of YMCA Reading Clubs.

Parents may call the Y for an appointment with instructors from the Kendale Reading Center. Children from the second to the sixth grades will be accepted in classes limited to seven pupils each.

The clubs are designed to teach phonics, increase speed and prevent regressions, and sharpen reading perception. A nominal fee is charged for materials and instruction.
